

Questions about Drones

- For many years the CIA was prohibited by U.S. law from carrying out assassinations. Now the CIA regularly uses drones to assassinate people in Pakistan. Do you think that is right?
- Drone attacks are not precise. Most drone strikes kill nearby civilians in addition to targeted individuals. What do you think about that?
- Many villages in Pakistan and Afghanistan have drones hovering over them for days. Villagers come to fear and hate the U.S., because they feel they may be killed at any minute. Is this in the interest of the United States?
- How would you feel if military drones hovered over your neighborhood?

Questions about Drones

- For many years the CIA was prohibited by U.S. law from carrying out assassinations. Now the CIA regularly uses drones to assassinate people in Pakistan. Do you think that is right?
- Drone attacks are not precise. Most drone strikes kill nearby civilians in addition to targeted individuals. What do you think about that?
- Many villages in Pakistan and Afghanistan have drones hovering over them for days. Villagers come to fear and hate the U.S., because they feel they may be killed at any minute. Is this in the interest of the United States?
- How would you feel if military drones hovered over your neighborhood?