

Hiroshima/Nagasaki A-Bomb Display Available

Upper Hudson Peace Action is seeking public spaces to exhibit a new display produced by the Hiroshima Peace Museum. The display can be set up in churches, schools, universities, libraries and other locations.

The purpose of the display is to remind the public of the destructive power of nuclear weapons and the need for nuclear disarmament. The display focuses on the only time such weapons have been used; but today nearly 24,000 nuclear weapons remain in existence, threatening the world with utter annihilation.

President Obama has spoken out repeatedly for creating a nuclear weapons-free world and is receiving support from other world leaders.

This May, there will be major United Nations review of the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty. The President will need public support and encouragement to take a strong leadership role to take advantage of the many opportunities the treaty review will offer to move toward nuclear abolition.

The Display

The display consists of fifteen 24" X 36" posters (mounted on 30" X 40" foam boards; along with easels to hold the posters. Supportive materials are also available.

If a particular space is too small for the entire display, a portion can be shown.

The exhibit can be set up for a day, a week, or a longer time.
